DEDICATION TO

MRS. SHARON A. BLOOM

MR. JOSEPH A. GARRITY

MR. THOMAS M. VALERIO

Words are not enough to express our gratitude and indebtedness to you for the guidance you have given us over the years, for helping us find ourselves, and have fun doing it. Our thanks must therefore come from what we make of ourselves in the future. However, until that time we offer you this book, a part of us, as a down payment. We wish you all the luck that has been wished us.

"The time has come for closing books

And long last looks must end,

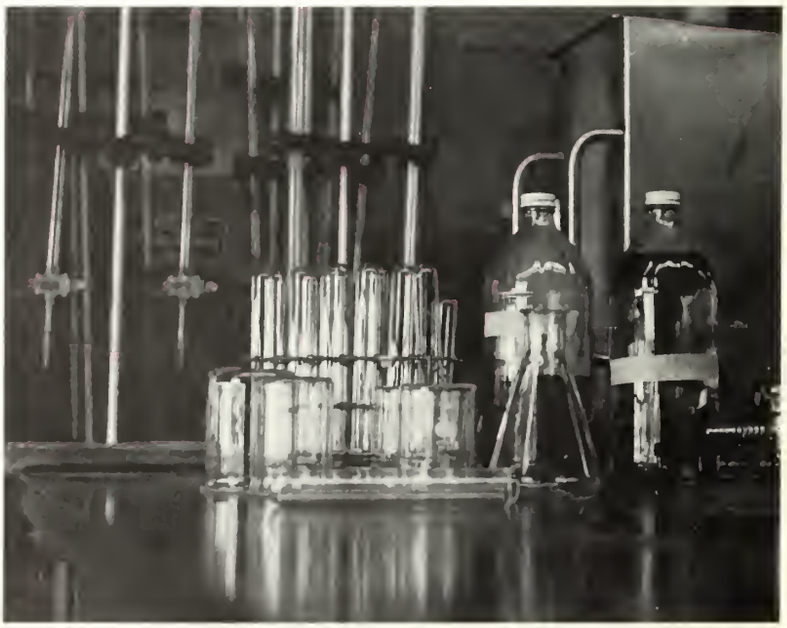
But as we leave we know

That we are leaving our best friends."

FOREWORD

There are few human beings who perceive the truth, complete and staggering, by instant illumination . . .

. . . Most of them acquire wisdom, fragment by fragment, by successive developements . . .



. . . It is these developements which result in the education of the intellect in the Laws of Nature, not only of things and forces, but of men and their ways . . .

. . . Our education is the fashioning of man's affections of the will and soul, into an earnest desire to move in harmony with himself . . .

. . . As a result, our years at C.H.S. have allowed us to develope a sense of direction, of newfound maturity . . .

. . . They have added a new dimension of vitality, a new awareness of the future . . .

. . . Our roots here are both bitter and sweet.
They have been spiced with success and dismaled by failure . . .

. . . They have given us a new incentive in our search for truth.

An important role in the search for ourselves was played by the C.H.S. faculty. Just how did they go about helping us along the "rocky road" to truth? By . . .

co-operating with each other

FACULTY

. . . being able to let loose and have fun with us . . .

. . . planning the best for our future . . .

. . . striving fervently to impart their knowledge and experience to us . . .

. . . sharing our ecstasy at a victory . . .

. . . and most important of all, always available to listen and help whenever we needed them.

SENIORS

In answering the question, "Who am I?" it becomes necessary to ask, "What did it mean to be a senior?" Well . . . it was the indescribable feeling we had as we stood together singing "Green and Gold" at the very last football rally . . .

. . . the never-satisfied quest for knowledge . . .

finding time for quiet thinking

. . . even if it came through a dream . . .

. . . being carefree . . .

. . . but sometimes wondering desperately, Where can I go from here" . . .

. . . helping each other . . .

. . . having good days . . .

. . . feeling warm and loved . . .

. . . and bad ones . . .

Yes, all this and much much more was what our wonderful senior year was all about. Soon we'll wish we could live it through again. But life is such that that just won't happen. So here, preserved in the pages of this book, precious moments in time stand still, and we can always be . . . Seniors.

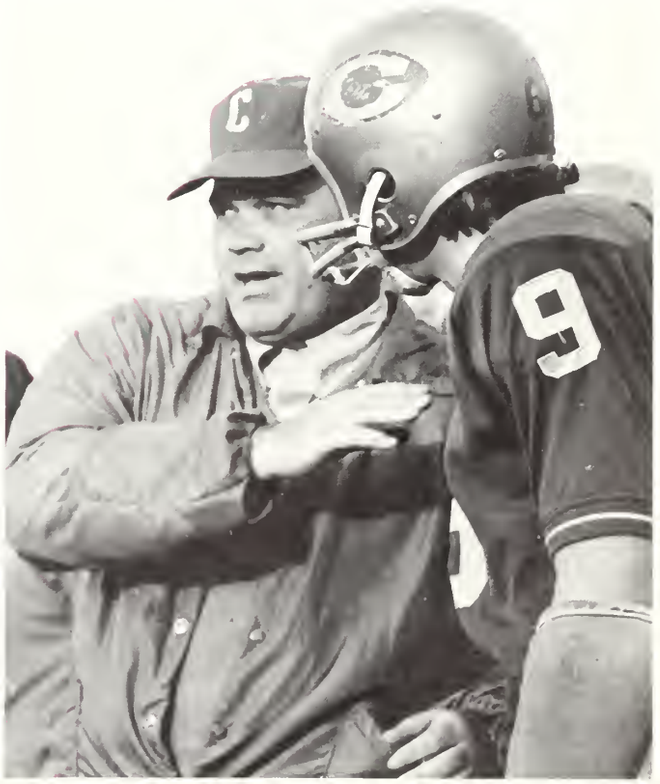
The Gaels were out to win this year and this was proven by the fact that they chose Allen Baird and David Borinski as co-captains. These two seniors exemplified the desire of the whole team.

Two tough opponents were greeted by Clinton to start the season. Southbridge High School suffered their first defeat in two years at the hands of the Gaels. Highly favored Wachusett became their second victim.

The first Midland League game found the Clinton High School Gaels in Hudson High territory. Though we fought hard, we ended up on the short side of a 12-8 score. The season, however, was still young.

In the second Midland League game the Gaels ended up on the short end again. Shrewsbury High handed the Gaels their second loss by a score of 13-0.



St. Bernards was Clinton's next opponent and our team proved that it could get back on the winning track by winning 15-13.

The glory was short-lived—however, powerful Milford overcame the upset-minded Gaels by defeating them 17-8 in a game played at Fuller Field. The Gaels then traveled to Marlboro where the team got trounced by an aroused Panther team 28-0.

The Gaels finally got their first League victory at the expense of the Algonquin Tomahawks. This marked the first football victory a Gael team has had over the Northboro team since the series started.

The Turkey Day game as always is exciting and this year's was no exception. It had added importance for a win here meant a winning season. The fired-up team containing 13 seniors realized it was their last game and combined to beat Maynard 12-0.

There was no one great member of the 1972 edition of the Gaels. It was a team effort all the way. Contributing to the fine season we had were Tim Tolber and Co-captain Dave Borinski. Tim, first at end and then at halfback, continually gained first-down yardage and was a fine defensive back. Dave picked up the tough inside yardage through holes made by John Kronopolus, Don Ganczarski, and Mike Quill. Mike was also an outstanding linebacker. Co-captain Allen Baird led the defense playing three different positions during the year. Allen also did double-duty as a very effective offensive tackle. Don Dobeck showed his worth by switching from full-back to tight end and doing the job at both places. Tim Parslow, at defensive halfback, did a great job handling the oppositions' ends. Though injured for most of the season, Steve Winn and Stan Nosek proved their importance and gave it all they had at end and at linebacker, respectively. Dave Sargent proved an able utility man by playing 4 different positions. Gary Vanasse ran back kick-offs well and Kevin O'Malley provided extra strength in the defensive line.

The seniors would also like to thank Coach Owen Kilcoyne and his coaching staff for 4 years in which we were taught to accept defeat and savor victory as men.

We would also like to thank our Athletic Director Mr. David Hazel for all the help he has given us over the years.

Graduation took its toll on the two year Midland League Champs. The Gaels had a rather disappointing 5-12 record but a record which didn't tell the whole story. Captain Steve Winn led our scrappy hoopsters through a heart-breaking season seeing the Gaels lose by less than five points in three games. The team's never-say-die attitude kept them in all but a few games. Its ball-hawking defense and fast-break offense gave the opposition fits until at times we fell victim to the opponents' superior height. The team was never out-hustled and never said die.

Our admiration and thanks go to Coach Gerry Foley for showing us, by his team's example, that no matter how tough the opponent, we can still give him a good fight.

BASEBALL

Even though the Gaels had a disappointing 1-16 season, there was one very memorable game. It was the final game of the season and the Gaels took on the Midland League champs, the Milford Scarlets.

The Scarlets drew first blood as they scored in the bottom of the second inning. Milford tallied on a hit batsman, a ground out, and a run producing single.

Undaunted, the Gaels fought back in the third. They produced two runs on a walk, a double error on a sacrifice attempt, and two singles. This would be all the scoring in the game.

The Gaels played flawless defense the rest of the way to complement a fine pitching performance. Numerous Scarlet rallies were quelched by timely strikeouts and key defensive plays as the Gaels edged Milford, 2-1.

Our gratitude is extended to Coach Edward Connor for assisting us during this past season.

Led by six seniors, the 1972 Gael track team finished its season with a record of 4 wins and 5 losses. Though it was not a championship season the team showed much promise as many of the points earned came from the underclassmen. Senior standouts on the team include Mike Quill who continually placed first or second in the shotput, Don Dobeck who was right behind Quill in the shot-put event. Steve Winn was a triple threat often winning the javelin, high hurdles, and the long jump. Ed O'Donnell placed first or second in every meet as a two-miler. Stan Nosek was a top Discus man and Dave Sargent was always in the top three in the hurdles.

Two school records were broken this year. The javelin and the high hurdles. These records were achieved by Steve Winn. Steve added better than 10 feet to the old javelin record and deminished the high hurdles record by a tenth of a second.

CROSS COUNTRY

Captain Ed O'Donnell and
Coach Donald Burgwinkle

As expected the cross country team had its usual fine season finishing with a record 7-3. Led by Captain Ed O'Donnell the Gael Harriers were only defeated by Marlboro twice and once by Shrewsbury. Marlboro has yet to lose a Midland League meet and Shrewsbury defeated us by a single point at their home course.

A post-season Midland League Conference meet hosted by Marlboro saw Coach Donald Burwinkle's thin-clads win convincingly, beating the second-place team by 21 points.

GOLF

Coach John Philbin and Captain Frank Marhefka

Captain Frank Marhefka led his group of golfers to a respectable season finishing with a 3-4-1 record. Marhefka, along with five sophomores, almost captured a winning season but were tied by Shrewsbury and beaten by Milford in the last two matches. A rundown of the scores is as follows:

Returning veterans and the selection of Mary Alice Lavelle as Team Captain enabled the Clinton High School Gaelettes to attain one of their finest seasons.

We felt the "glory of winning" along with the "agony of defeat", but most important the team learned that through working together and excelling in sportsmanship another great goal was attained in our high school education.

Our sincere and heartfelt thanks to Miss V. McCarthy, our coach, for her untiring efforts. Our success is as much hers as it is ours.

The 1971-72 Girls Basketball season was one of the most productive in recent years. Under the guidance of Miss McCarthy and the leadership of Peggy Scanlon and Jody Braunhardt as co-captains, the team roared to a 5-7 record. The best in several years.

The quality of the team is reflected by the selection of Peggy Scanlon to the All-Star team and the selection of several other members to the honorable mention squad.

WHO'S WHO

HAPPENINGS

What went on at Clinton High wouldn't have made the New York Times but everything that happened here was important to us whether it was every day routine . .

. . . or a wonderful once in a lifetime experience . . .

. . . whether as participants . . .

. . . or as "only" spectators . . .

. . . discovering our future roles . . .

. . . always under the expert guidance of our conscientious faculty.

Pausing for a few moments rest from life's fast-flowing stream, there is a chance for us to stop and think about where we are,
what we were, and even to dream of what awaits us in the future.
Our thoughts drift back over the past four years where . . .

"Hey Frank, did you do Miss Ryan's homework?"

"Yeah, took me an hour, and I couldn't get the third question."

"John, see you uptown in an hour."

"Deb, those shoes are adorable. Going to the French Club meeting?"

"Oh mais oui, and tonight I'm gonna 'Cheer, cheer for old Clinton High' at the game."

Of what significance were these years at CHS? How did 173 people interact with one another? How were we changed? How were our ideas molded? To answer these questions we must go back to the beginning . . .

FRESHMEN

At last the day we had eagerly anticipated had come. We were freshmen! All grown up and in high school where a whole new life awaited, ours for the living.

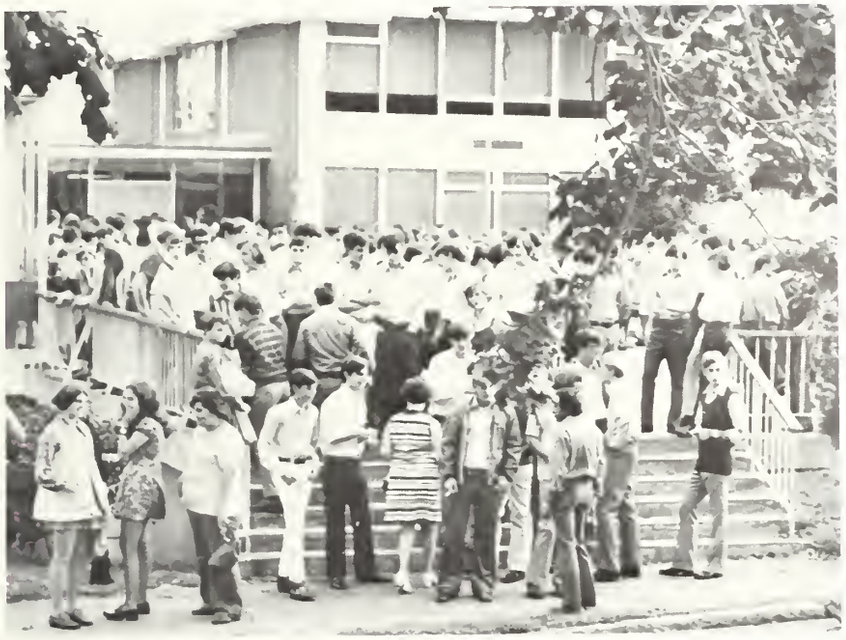
However our feelings of triumph were short-lived because on that first day we became lost in the "vast" corridors of CHS. We stayed in our own little groups, but only at first. Soon we all knew each other and the "Spirit of '72" was firmly established.

We got into full swing in November by electing as our class officers, Barry Garceau, President; Lenore O'Donnell, Vice-President; Sheila Devaney, Secretary; and John Kronopolus, Treasurer.

We undertook our first class project with a zeal unmatched by any other freshman class, and with good reason. For the world-famous Harlem Magicians took on our faculty. It was an immense success both morally and financially.

Thus the Class of 1972 made its first mark on Clinton High School.

SOPHOMORES



When we re-entered Clinton High our Sophomore year we were not as excited as the previous year. We were wiser our second year and knew that we had to buckle down and do our work.

We no longer got lost in the corridors. We went about business-like, keeping frivolity in its place. However, we were still impressionable but not as näive as we had been.

Re-elected as our class officers were: Barry Garceau, President; Lenore O'Donnell, Vice-President; Sheila Devaney, Secretary; and John Kronopolus, Treasurer.

Our faculty team, in order to demonstrate it was an equal opportunity basketball team, took on the Arkansas Lassies. They proved that they favored no team by allowing the Lassies to beat them as the Magicians had.

Thus, we proceeded on toward our Junior year.

HOMECOMING

NOVEMBER, 1970

The Homecoming Queen was Mary Beth Magowan. The members of her court were Nancy Seymour, Donna McNamara, Deborah Pelley and Joanne Turini.

JUNIORS

Junior year was a time of becoming involved. Now that we had the confidence of upper classmen we felt that it was time to really participate in everything that our class, school, and community had to offer. We campaigned enthusiastically for our congressman, Philip J. Phibin, and suffered the agony of his defeat with him. We cleaned up High Street and other badly littered areas of Clinton.

We flaunted our class rings to the freshmen and sophomores and, hoping to impress them even more, we drove around town at every opportunity displaying our newly found ability to drive.

We carefully planned our Homecoming and Prom and noted with pride that our "72" boys were fast becoming sports heros—admired by the entire school.

Junior year was also a time of specialization in our respective fields of study. We finally began to formulate our future goals and to work towards them.

In summary, junior year was finding ourselves all over again, experiencing new feelings, and doing things we had only dreamed of before. We were beginning to grow up.

WE'VE ONLY JUST BEGUN

Even the dismal, wet weather could not infringe upon the magnificent splendor and excitement of our Junior Prom. The moment we had awaited so long arrived. At 8 P.M. our Junior Prom officially got under way but it had begun many months before in our minds.

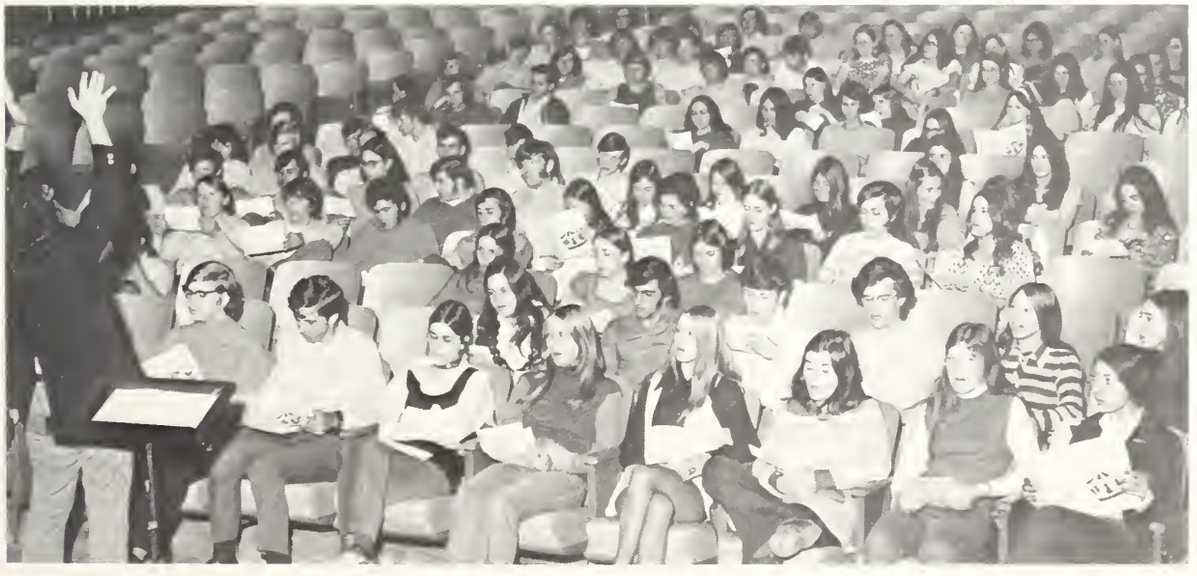
We dazedly danced to the music of Ed Lucci and hungrily ate our meal. As our beautiful moment began to come to its inevitable end the queen and her court were chosen. Selected to reign over us was Joanne Turini. The members of her court were Nancy Baird, Denise Laverdure, Ann Mason, and Sherry McGraw. At midnight our magic moment ended but we had only just begun our journey towards the future.

SENIORS

By senior year we had learned the ropes. Our high school education, now near its end, had provided us with an insight into the real world and had partially equipped us for our lives to come.

As our class officers we elected Phil Wagner, President, Tim Tolber, Vice-President; Sheila Devaney, Secretary; Tara Collier, Treasurer. They provided us with leadership through our last year at Clinton High.

While there were major projects this year, such as the Yearbook, and the Senior Hop, we concentrated on readying ourselves for June 9th, the day on which we would say farewell to our many happy, some sad, high school memories. We also steeled ourselves for the adieu we would have to bid Clinton High.



MOON RIVER

Dusk on February 23 brought to an end the daylight hours but it also terminated the careful preparations and hasty, last minute adjustments and improvisations that accompany any Senior Hop. However, these tedious details were quickly forgotten as we entered the gaily decorated Knights of Columbus hall.

The music, provided by Sounds Unlimited, added to the excitement. The notes which prodded us on until we had danced ourselves into a frenzy were interrupted only long enough for us to satisfy our desires for food, and to choose our queen.

Her Majesty Lenore O'Donnell was regally crowned with the members of her court, Jayne Grady, Anne Lugi, Mary Beth Magowan, Donna McNamara, Deborah Pelley, and Linda Reed, looking on.

Regretfully this was the final event of our night in dreamland. As we rode down our Moon River covered with newly fallen snow we could not help remembering two lines from the night's theme. "Two drifters off to see the world, there's such a lot of world to see, We're after that same rainbow's end, waitin' 'round the bend."

So far we've looked at generalities, '72 as a whole.

Let's pause once again to examine the specifics . . .

PLACES

. . . insignificant without us and the things we made happen here . . . step back and remember all the mundane tasks we went through everyday—class after class, homework, tests—but what went on in these halls of CHS was infinitely more important than any process a computer could ever perform, for it was here that lives were shaped . . .

So look into these now silent places and hear them echoing with cries of joy and agony, recall the anticipation and excitement and, most important of all, feel the beat of life.

GRADUATION

Together,

We are here tonight

To bid farewell to Clinton High.

WEEK

BACCALAUREATE

Traditionally, we began our graduation week with Baccalaureate. However, this year was different in some ways from past years. It was held on a Monday night.

As we marched into Mitchell Memorial Auditorium to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" our hearts raced and jumped. A realization that our days at Clinton High were nearing an end passed fleetingly in our minds, giving way to the excitement of the moment. This became evident as we nervously sung "You'll Never Walk Alone" with trembling voices.

Our part of the proceedings done, we sat to listen to Rev. George K. Sutton address us. He told us:

"Never forget to be truthful and kind. Hold these virtues tightly. Write them deep within your heart. If you want favor with both God and man, and a reputation for good judgement and common sense, then trust God completely, don't ever trust yourself. In everything you do, put God first, and He will direct you and crown your efforts with success.

In conclusion, learn about God, who He is according to the Bible, find out how He wants to relate to you and how you can relate to Him. Then be honest and take Him into your confidence as a Friend interested in your highest good through His direction. We can have the friendship and companionship of God but we must make the choice willfully and honestly."

With these words of Rev. Sutton reverberating in our ears, we made our way up the aisles of the auditorium to the lobby where we cast off our caps and gowns in such a way as to suggest that we wished our days at Clinton High would never end. But Fate was against us. We were one more step closer to our final farewell.

CLASS TRIP

We arrived at Frank Davis' Resort with an air of hope and expectation. Listening to "Coo-Coo" livened the atmosphere and instilled a feeling that we just could not miss.

The crew from Clinton got involved in everything going, from canoe racing on down to just plain lying around. The day was not without its bad points, however, as many found out the next day when they awoke with sunburns. Thus, Wednesday passed with no thought of our last days at Clinton High.

CLASS

Our class banquet got off to an unexpected start as three of the buses decided to take a rather round-about route to Franklin Manor. Fortunately, this was not an omen as the night was perfect.

We enjoyed our meal and applauded as Mrs. Bloom, Mr. Garrity, and Mr. Valerio graciously accepted the gifts we offered them in gratitude for their four years of dedication to our class. We all listened reminiscently as Elaine sang "To Sir With Love" to our beloved advisors.

BANQUET

The evening began to swing as the band played. Everyone took to the dance floor, and exhibited their dancing skills. We even managed to get our advisors on to the hardwood.

A good time was enjoyed by all. At twelve our Cinderella night vanished, the prince and princess searched for their dream. We traveled home in the early morning. The last day had begun . . .

COMMENCEMENT

Our graduation was the same as all the others that had preceeded it. The feelings, emotions, and thoughts were identical to those of our precursors. The basic facts may change, but the impact and sense of finality never do.

With all this sameness present, it would seem that commencement would be uneventful and lacking in excitement. However, this is not true. As the graduates march in to "Pomp and Circumstance" a swelling mixture of nervousness, anticipation, alertness, thoughtfulness, happiness, sadness, and hopefulness is born within each student. There is also a realization that this is the last time he will be considered a student at Clinton High, or whatever school, a realization that upon receiving "the diploma" that person is now cast into the outside world with only his high school education to protect and support him.

EXERCISES

This year, on top of all that sameness and overwhelming emotion, a newness was added. Four of our own classmates addressed us. They provided us with a greater insight into ourselves and the years which lay ahead of us. These were speeches which we could listen to and experience the identical feelings of the speaker because they were about a subject which was close to us at that moment and were in a language we could understand.

The first speaker, Anne Lugi, spoke to us of our development and maturity through our high school years. She told how our development was important to our future. Anne concluded by saying, "We are the adults of tomorrow and soon we will be making the decisions of the world. If we fail to progress then our country will not progress. If this happens our power will collapse and we will lose our freedom. Then we will become subject to captors who will stifle our growth."

Henry Mason, the next speaker, enlightened us on our community. He refreshed, in our minds, the memories of the many good things Clinton had done for us. Henry spoke of the social, political, and economic awareness of our municipality. He concluded by telling us, "Truly we are very fortunate to have a community as socially, politically, economically aware as ours is and I hope this awareness will help make this an even better community of the future."

Our final speaker, Austin Joyce, addressed us as to the responsibilities which we must now undertake. He then went on to tell us that we were pioneers, that we were the first to take on these duties at such an early age. Austin then encouraged us by saying, "Let us snatch the standard from our parents hands and run with it as no generation before us has." He exhorted us to bring about world peace, worldwide friendship, and an end to pollution, poverty, hunger, and disease. Austin concluded by urging us to "Go forth from this hall and show the world what the spirit of '72 can accomplish for the benefit of mankind."

And, so, our graduation became part of history. Written in a dusty book and then forgotten. But not by all. Those who were there can never forget it. This is true of all commencements for though there is that sameness that accompanies them all there is something special which makes it memorable and an experience that will live forever as a constant reminder of a past through which a person finds, and gets to know, himself. It is the fact that it is happening to you, not around you

The third student speaker of the night was Debra Ganczarski. She elaborated on the passage from Ecclesiastes which begins: "There is an appointed time for everything and a time for every affair under the heavens, . . ." Debra explained how this excerpt applied to us at that moment and at every moment in our lives. She concluded by saying, "We, the members of the graduating class of Clinton High School, must go forth from this hall always remembering that our appointed times in life will not end here tonight because for us this is not the end but only the beginning of our appointed times."

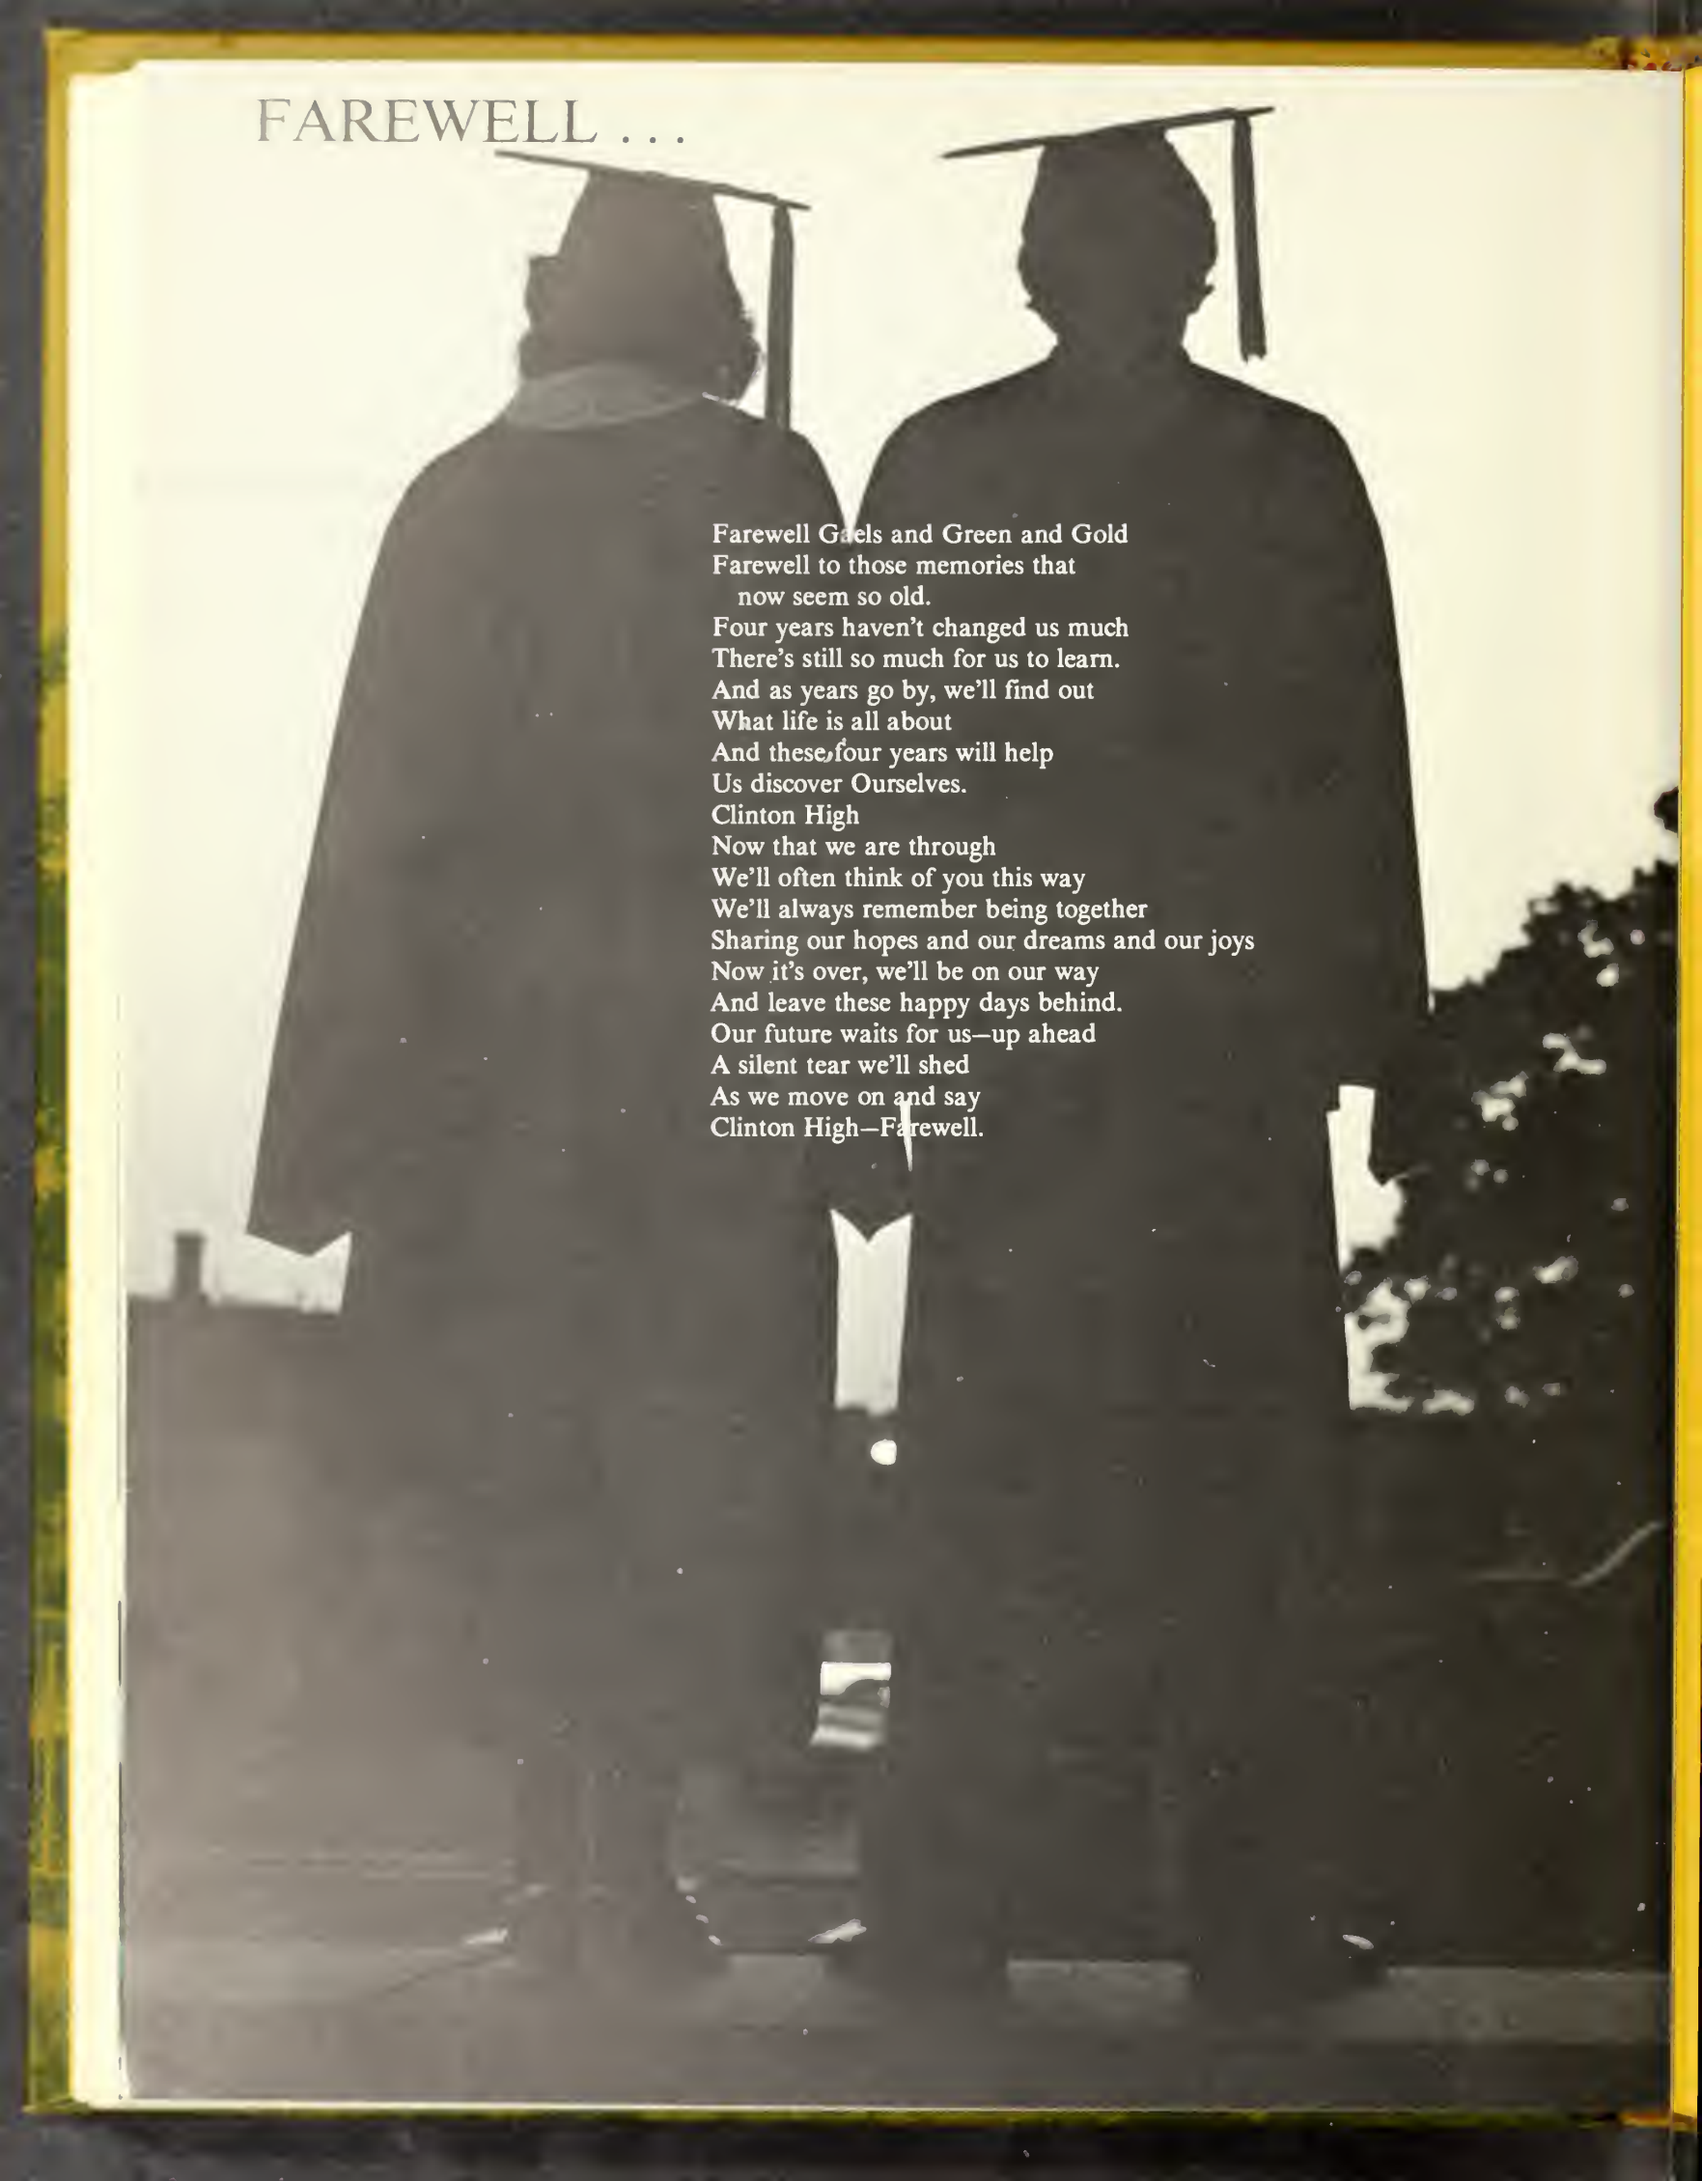
FAREWELL . . .



Farewell Gaels and Green and Gold
Farewell to those memories that now seem so old.
Four years haven't changed us much
There's still so much for us to learn.
And as years go by, we'll find out
What life is all about
And these four years will help
Us discover Ourselves.
Clinton High
Now that we are through
We'll often think of you this way
We'll always remember being together
Sharing our hopes and our dreams and our joys
Now it's over, we'll be on our way
And leave these happy days behind.
Our future waits for us—up ahead
A silent tear we'll shed
As we move on and say
Clinton High—Farewell.
